

White Lines

By Alex Johnson
Arr. Troy C

I tried to tell you I've got to get away I tried to say I need my space

I got to get some distance in between my heart and my head I'm on the raiser's

Edge I've been here before I know the way

White lines and headlights in my eyes White lines I'm ready to drive all night

White lines how many 'til I'm in your arms White lines will bring me home oh, lines will bring me home

I held you in my arms last night I dreamed we were riding on a star

I kissed you and the sun began to shine In dreams I can do anything

Seems like I'm on my own Feels like I'm losing it all

White lines and headlights in my eyes White lines I'm ready to drive all night

White lines how many 'til I'm in your arms White lines will bring me

Seems like I've been here before I know the way

Seems like I've been on my own So long So long

White lines and headlights in my eyes White lines

I'm ready to drive all night White lines how many 'til I'm in your arms

White lines will bring me home oh

home oh home
